\(^1\)The Yarra Ranges National Park is principally an area of old-growth mountain and alpine ash wet sclerophyll forests. It has four distinct management units of which the northern most unit - Lake Mountain, is the mainland’s most westerly occurrence of a subalpine woodland plateau. Lake Mountain has high value alpine bogs and wetlands and is a popular cross-country skiing and snow play venue. The unit's inclusion in this Schedule 1 of the AAnp Program MoU has been nominated and approved by Parks Victoria Head of Agency, and validated for inclusion in this MoU at the Australian Alps national parks Program Heads of Agency meeting 31\(^{st}\) March 2016.
